

PRESS RELEASE

WITH MUSIC AND LIGHTS SHOW, ENEL CHILE APPLAUDS THE “HEROES WITHOUT CAPES” OF THE CORONAVIRUS EMERGENCY

- Between now and May 15th, the outside of the Enel building will be lit up and accompanied by the projection of the concert aria broadcast by the famous lyrical singer, Andrea Bocelli, on Easter Sunday from the Milan Cathedral.

Santiago, May 2, 2020 - In order to deliver messages of support and encouragement for all Chileans, and especially those “heroes without capes” who work every day to ensure that the country stays afloat despite the Covid-19 emergency, Enel Chile from now until May 15th, will offer a cultural show on the outside of its corporate building.

“This is a gift for our city and our neighbors. A message of hope for everyone. It is a homage to the healthcare professionals and all of the other people whose work has helped the country continue to operate,” says Paolo Pallotti, CEO of Enel Chile.

Every day from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m., the building will display the Chilean flag along with messages of support, and conclude with the projection of the Music for Hope concert aria recently given by the Italian tenor Andrea Bocelli at the Milan Cathedral.

You can follow the inaugural transmission live, which will be streamed on Emol TV starting at 8:50 p.m.
